The Beautiful Game of Football

30 Participate in the FIFA Women's Coaching Course

Almost 30 coaches participated in the FIFA Women's Coaching Course that was held at the FUFA Technical Centre in Njeru-Jinja.

The five day course was aimed at developing methods for coaches who handle women football in Uganda. The course also centred on how to coach female players both technically and tactically as well as understanding the specific characters of female players.

The course follows FIFA's donation of equipment to all the 12 teams playing in the FUFA Women's Elite League that is on recess now after the completion of the first round.

According to FUFA 1st Vice President Justus Mugisha who presided at the closing ceremony, he says that both FIFA and FUFA are committed to see the women game grow in the country.

'The association is fully committed to develop the feminine side of the game and I can assure you the world's soccer governing body, FIFA clearly is impressed with the progress in Uganda'

'We shall organize some international fixtures but only after setting up strong structures to help in selecting the national team to compete at the highest level'

'It is my wish to see you coaches exercising the skills you have acquired as it is the only way the federation can benefit from its laid strategies'

The five-day course was partitioned into theory and practical sessions which used players from the St Steven Buyala Budondo and Nile Vocational Training Institute.

ADMINISTRATION: Club Management Course Concludes, 24 attend

A five-day FUFA Club Administration and Management course successfully ended at the FUFA Technical Centre in Njeru.

Twenty four participants from Azam Uganda Premier League and FUFA Big League clubs took part in the course presented by six instructors.

FUFA President Eng. Moses Magogo (FIFA Instructor), Sam Mpiima (CAF Instructor), Edgar Watson (FUFA CEO), Decolas Kizza (FUFA Finance Director), Ahmed Hussein (Communications Manager) and FUFA Lawyer Alex Luganda all instructed.

Speaking at the closing ceremony, Federation head Eng. Moses Magogo said FUFA is trying to develop its own channels through which professionalism can be realized in our game of football in Uganda.

'As FUFA we decided to bring this course at a free cost to all secretaries of Super and Big league clubs but some have come and some have deliberately refused to come. None of you participants were evaluated on their potential to become participants in this course. Being attached to a club was the only passport we wanted' said Magogo.

Hajji Kirunda Mubarak the Jinja Central Division LC III chairperson who officially closed the course, said administration and management in every aspect of life are very important components to determine the progress of success or the lack thereof.

'Sports as an industry is supposed to be run on efficient and effective administration but also with discipline. One cannot expect success if the administration, management and leadership are found wanting' said Kirunda. The course covered topics such as FUFA Structures, FUFA Development, Finance, Club Management, Planning, Competitions, Marketing, Events Management and Communication. FUFA has already issued a circular to clubs directing them to have qualified CEOs next season.

TECHNICAL: Cranes Coach Micho Releases Work Plan

Federation of Uganda Football Associations (FUFA) and the Uganda Cranes Coach Milutin 'Micho' Sredojevic have released part one of the 9 phase road less than 24 than after the FUFA President, Eng. Moses Magogo took through the national teams' personnel through a one day induction course.

The strategic technical programme has football activities for all competitions in the remaining part of this year on short, medium and long term plans.

Addressing sports journalists at the FUFA main headquarters at Mengo in Kampala, Micho urged for ultimate co-operation from all the stake holders with the goal of seeing Uganda qualify for the upcoming continental championships.

The phase of the plan unveiled started with the 2016/AFCON 2017 Qualifying draws.

The opening phase started April 8th 2014 (Draws of Afcon 2017 qualifiers) and will run until 6th September 2015.

'I call upon all Ugandans to come and we work as unit. Qualification and performing excellently is very realistic mission, possible and attainable' said Micho.

Micho hinted on the detailed programme and strategies of tracking the home and foreign based players.

The preparatory programmes such as 'Cranes Na-Mutima' shall still be maintained with lots of domestic and international build up matches lined up.

At the same press conference attended by two FUFA Executive Committee members, Chris Kalibala and Darius Mugoye, the media were also urged to be supportive in the best way possible.

'Football is for us all. Let us help each other in this cause. As FUFA, we are committed 100% towards doing the necessary work to ensure Uganda prepares adequately and achieve the set target' remarked Mugoye
